FIELD HOUSE DISCUSSED BY CIVIC GROUP

Three Plans for Financing Structure Presented At Meeting

Methods of financing the construction of a field house, to seat large audiences and provide larger playing floor for athletic contests, were discussed by the civic committee of Salem at a meeting last night in Memorial building.

Alroy Bloomberg, recently appointed chairman of the committee, called the group together to revive the project discussed last year but abandoned at the time because of city hall and school building bond issues.

Need for a modern field house has been recognized for some time and demand for some action has been growing this season because hundreds have been unable to get into the high school gym to witness basketball games. The playing floor also is considered too small.

Three Plans Discussed

Three plans for financing a new structure were discussed at length last night:

(1) a municipal bond issue, in which case the city could control operation of the field house; (2) a school bond issue, with control by the board of education; and (3) a campaign for public donations.

The third plan would provide management by the Memorial building director, the construction to be added to that building.

No decision was reached and Chairman Bloomberg appointed Curt Vaughan, Charles Haldi and Joe Kelley to delve into all three possibilities and report back at a meeting Tuesday, Feb. 4.

The school board has recognized the need for larger facilities for players and accommodations for the public and had included a field house in its original overall program for expansion of its school building program.

Considered By Board

That was to have been included in plan for a new high school building, but the pressing need for more elementary school rooms forced the board to delay the high school program.

When the latter is presented within a few years it will include a field house if one has not been provided in the meantime.

The plan cannot be presented to the public in the form of a bond issue except by city council or the school board.

Authority by the state legislature for cities to provide living memorials for war veterans limits the amount to a tax levy of one mill, which would be sufficient only for operation expenses, not for construction costs.

Rough estimates place the cost of construction between $200,000 and $300,000.

1 KILLED, 20 HURT IN PLANE MISHAP

Pennsylvania Wave Victim Of Landing Crackup In California

(By Associated Press)

OAKLAND, Calif., Jan. 21.—A Wave medical corpsman was killed and 20 other persons, including three women, were injured in the crash of a four-engine navy plane at Oakland airport yesterday when, for the first time in more than 76,000 landings, radar-ground-control failed to guide a ship to safety.

The big Naval Air Transport (Nats) plane landed 150 feet short of the fog-shrouded runway and crashed into a four-foot rock wall at the edge of the field.

Its undercarriage sheared away and the plane skidded across the field on its fuselage for a 1,000 feet, shedding wreckage and passengers as it went. Then it caught fire and burned.

The dead Wave was identified by the Navy today as Aviation Specialist 3 C Margaret Wallace, whose father is Harry W. Wallace, of Pittsfield, Pa.

Most seriously hurt of the survivors was Lt. (jg) F. A. Michalek from Great Mills, Md., who was burned.

Flying from Moffett field, only about 40 miles south of Oakland, the plane carried a crew of seven, including the Wave who was killed, and 14 passengers.

The Navy said that before today 76,934 radar controlled landings, 1,071 in which the safety of the plane and crew were involved and the balance in training, were made without mishap.

Legion's New Quaker City Band Plans To 'Go Places'

After making 11 successful appearances in the last eight months of 1946, the American Legion Quaker City band will give its first performance of 1947 in a concert in the Salem High school auditorium Feb. 27.

Reorganized on May 1 of last year, after eight years of absence from the local scene, the band, now under the direction of George D. Chappell has made rapid progress toward becoming a first class musical organization.

Chappell plans "big things" for the band. "We want to give Salem something she can be proud of," he said.

Starting with the Memorial day parade on May 31, the American Legion group appeared in the following events:

The American Legion 10th district convention at Steubenville, a concert at Centennial park, the state Legion convention in Cleveland, a Salem Polo club benefit game, fall music festival at Reilly stadium, the "Army-Navy" benefit football game here, the Lisbon Fall Festival, and the Halloween Mardi Gras and bond issue parades.

Among the goals set this year by Director Chappell, the band hopes to attend the 10th district convention again, the state convention in Cincinnati and possibly the national convention in New York City, in addition to other appearances in and near Salem.

Charter Members

The band was first organized in 1896. One of its organizers and first directors was George W. Chappell, the present director's father.

Others, who played with the band in its early days, who are still living, are E. L. Gilson, a past president, Al Winder, Jesse Lanza, William Brown, Ralph Sturgeon, Bill White and Hal Wilkinson.

The late John Hundertmark, who was a director for many years, led the Quaker City group at the time it was disbanded eight years ago.

The band, if it had continued intact through the years, would be celebrating its 52nd anniversary this year.

The present director has had considerable experience in band direction, having led musical groups in Alliance, Miami, Fla., and various army bands. He volunteered to take over direction of the band when reorganized last year.

He plans to seat a 50-piece band for the Feb. 27 concert, for which rehearsals are now underway.

Dover Boy, 5, Drowns Attempting To Fish

DOVER, Jan. 21.—"Can I go fishing this afternoon?" blue-eyed five-year-old Jerry Bair asked his mother, Mrs. John Bair, yesterday, holding in his hand a pole and hookless line. The answer was "no."

But 20 minutes later he disappeared, and some 100 persons soon set out to locate him. His body was found today in a rain-swollen stream about a half mile from his house.

LEGION MAPS BUILDING PLANS

$25,000 Improvement Expected To Be Made Next Summer

Plans for a new building program, at an estimated cost of from $20,000 to $25,000, to relieve the overcrowding of the present building, were pushed Monday night at a meeting of members of Charles H. Carey post, American Legion.

Definite action, in the form of completed plans, will be available in about 30 days, Commander Chester Kridler announced today.

Also pending, is a report from a planning committee, headed by Everett Rich. The committee, Kridler said, is investigating the advisability of purchasing an entire new building or making an addition to the present Legion home on E State st.

The Salem post now has 276 members, which are too many for the present building to accommodate during meetings. The addition, when built, will house a new meeting hall.

Construction will begin early in the summer, Kridler said.

Plans for the post's Quaker City band concert Feb. 27 were also discussed last night. A small admission charge is planned for the event.

A dinner was served prior to the business meeting.

The trio, arrested near Alliance after they held up managers of the Murphy Co. store in November, were indicted by the grand jury on charges of armed robbery. All have previous criminal records and have served time in state prisons.

The case will be heard in the next session of court, Judge Joel Sharp said.

The three are being held in the Mahoning county jail pending trial.

Feller Signs With Indians; Will Get More Than $80,000

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, Jan. 21.—Bobby Feller, fireball hurler of the Cleveland Indians, signed a 1947 contract today that was expected to make him the highest paid player in baseball.

Indian officials did not disclose exact terms of the contract, but said that with the bonus-attendance clause, the former Iowa farm boy should make better than $80,000 this season.

Babe Ruth's $80,000 for one season is believed the highest amount ever paid a ball player for one year.

Feller, who fanned 348 fies last year to set a new major league strikeout record, drove here last night from his home in Waukegan, Ill., to ink the contract following a

Marshall Becomes New U.S. Secretary

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Gen. George C. Marshall took the oath today as secretary of state in the presence of President Truman and then pledged, "I'll do my best."

Numerous notables gathered in Mr. Truman's office to witness the ceremony and to them Marshall said: "I appreciate sincerely the honor and the compliment of your confidence. I'll do my best."

The wartime chief of America's victorious armies was assured by Mr. Truman that he felt the duties of secretary of state were in "safe hands."

Mr. Truman told Marshall that while he regretted very sincerely the decision of James F. Byrnes to resign as secretary he appreciated "very much your willingness to accept that burden."

The ceremony was brief. Members of the cabinet, top-ranking congressional foreign policy leaders and newsmen representing publications and radio organizations all over the globe crowded into the office.

Could Become President

The oath administered by Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson, placed Marshall in line for the presidency in the event a vacancy should occur before the end of Mr. Truman's term.

Marshall, wearing civilian clothes, arrived scarcely five minutes before the 11 a. m. ceremony. A throng in the White House lobby stepped aside to let him enter the office.

HERBERT IN TAX APPEAL

Governor Asks 'Break' For Taxpayer, More Money For State

COLUMBUS, Jan. 21.—Ohio legislators today tackled the tough job cut out for them by Gov. Thomas J. Herbert of providing more money for expanding state operations while practicing "rigid economy."

"It is time to give the taxpayer a 'break,'" Herbert said in delivering his first message to a joint senate-house session last night.

Outlining his legislative program to the predominantly Republican general assembly, the governor reiterated his demands for "reduction or revision of our tax structure" but withheld specific recommendations pending completion of a tax department study in two weeks.

He recalled his campaign statement that revenues appeared adequate to permit a $50,000,000 tax reduction program — barring new state needs — and his proposal to lop one-third off sales taxes which grossed $108,000,000 in 1946.

Pointing to an unappropriated postwar reserve funds of $90,000,000, Herbert termed "unwise and dangerous to free representative government the principle of maintaining taxes for the sole purpose of creating a huge surplus."

He said new needs — separate from capital improvements — had not been determined fully for public schools and state universities, the welfare department and other state agencies and local governments.

It Won't Sell

Senator Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin, impressed with the importance of what is reflected in the Congressional Record, thinks this publication should be put into the hands of more readers, perhaps even sold on newsstands.

The senator won't get his way, fortunately, because too many persons know that the Record is like the sample of tap water that a playful bartender handed the drunk to taste. "Whatever is in this," said the drunk, spitting it out, "it won't sell."

The Congressional Record has four handicaps. First, it has a bad name; it would take a generation to overcome its reputation for dullness. Second, there's too much dead wood in it; that can't be helped. Third, it requires too much time to read it; government by deliberation is a long-winded process. Fourth, it lacks suspense. The outcome of all its stories is known in advance. The stories all have been told in daily newspapers, radio broadcasts, news magazines and by word of mouth.

A handful of patient readers who do comb through the Record for details and confirmation of impressions about congressional debate can testify that it is by no means as unreadable as its detractors say it is. But they also know that there is no particular market for it. Many of the copies now published are born to bluish unseen like the desert rose. If there were no newspapers, no radios, no magazines to tell what goes on in Congress, the Record would sell like hot cakes, or anyway cold cakes. But under the circumstances, it's doing about as well as can be expected.

Economic Standstill

Economists, especially in the public-planning branch, theorized at length during the early 30's about leveling off the peaks and filling up the valleys of economic activity charts.

Confronted with the grim circumstances of depression, they longed for a little of the overconfidence of the preceding boom. There was a ready reception for their ideas. The country was coasting down, down, down into the valley of economic despair. It had nothing to lose.

Lately, the country has been climbing up, up, up into the rarefied air that surrounds the economic peaks—and wishing for a little of the caution that characterized the preceding bust. It is less interested at the moment in filling up the valleys than in leveling off the peaks of the economic activity charts—a significant shift in emphasis.

But fundamentally it is still preoccupied with the same idea—that the boom-and-bust cycle can be broken. There is a dangerous fallacy in this.

It is not possible to break the boom-and-bust cycle; it is possible only to modify it, probably so slightly that politicians will continue to speak of inflation and deflation and capitalize on them. The fact is the cycle has been modified extensively in this century, but it has not kept either the politicians or the people from calling it the same old succession of booms and busts.

The fact is that the succession is inevitable, subject only to changes in degree. A state of equilibrium cannot be achieved in economics. Things cannot be made to come out just right and stay that way. Ever-normal prosperity is not possible. To think it is assumes that there will be no more rising and falling, coming and going, ascending and descending, expanding and shrinking. It assumes that the porridge will be neither too hot nor too cold but always just right.

There will be no economic standstill. Conditions will continue to be relatively good or bad. When they are good, they always will be on the verge of getting bad, and when they are bad they will be on the verge of getting good. They will never be static, a realization that could save much confusion if it could be realized at the peak of the war boom.

Divided Labor Movement

Recent events in union labor reveal that the division between its two largest minorities, the C. I. O. and A. F. L., is deeper than a dispute about forms of organization.

The events suggest that any attempt to close the breach between C. I. O. and A. F. L. would have to reconcile divergent views of organized labor's principles and objectives that no longer can be reconciled.

William Green, president of A. F. L., indicates the nature of the real issue with outspoken criticism of the portal-to-portal suits which C. I. O. unions have been starting. He favors withdrawal of A. F. L. unions from this campaign to subvert the Fair Labor Standards Act. He thinks the suits are an expression of bad faith in collective bargaining.

Mr. Green previously had taken the lead in recognizing the connection between private enterprise and organized labor, by encouraging members of his organization to understand that labor cannot prosper unless enterprise prospers. This is in sharp contrast with the widely-publicized position of the C. I. O., that enterprise cannot be trusted to prosper. C. I. O.'s president, Philip Murray, recently has made it plain in his organization's official publication that even so mild a thing as modification of laws giving union bosses unrestricted power is a battle in class warfare, as far as he is concerned.

The issue is being joined between these two most powerful labor organizations on that point—whether or not class warfare has any place in a nation which has permitted its wage earners to rise above the level on which class warfare traditionally has been waged. The C. I. O., as far as its national policy is concerned, has moved steadily toward the class-warfare position, impelled in large part by the Communist organizers who helped it sign up its members in the early days. Their influence is still strong in the organization—far stronger than their presence, which is acknowledged by non-Communists to be an embarrassment.

knowledge by non-Communists to be an embarrassment.

A. F. L., on the other hand, has occupied a more moderate position. It offered a less hospitable environment for the class warriors, being essentially an organization of men with highly-developed skills. It has moved steadily away from a class-warfare position toward the doctrine of participation in a cooperative society—the ultimate objective of every minority which does not have a revolutionary purpose. It is impossible to say where John L. Lewis, founder of C. I. O. and now a tower of strength in A. F. L., fits into the picture, but the fact is Mr. Green is preaching cooperation and getting away with it.

This is potentially a more important political condition than anything happening inside the regular political parties. It is a manifestation of the two-party system inside an organized labor minority which was considered a political entity as lately as the presidential election in 1944.

What previously was a labor movement divided over technicalities about organization now is seen to be a movement divided over fundamental differences of principle and objective.

The Stars Say

For Wednesday, January 22

A calm, considered and well-planned course of action, might be the means of attainment of desired objectives, in which production is increased, progress and improvements of importance are in sight. Patience, well-organized techniques, calm and shrewd activities may secure such fruition, but a tendency toward the rash, ungoverned and intemperate may defeat sound efforts and best-laid plans. The judgment may likewise be obscure and prone to complicate affairs by haste and over-optimistic action. Maintain calm and composure.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, while having fairly encouraging prospects for growth, expansion and fulfilled ambitions, there are also factors to be considered as working against such lucrative and productive situation. The mentality may be obscured, confused and unable to form sound judgment, being aggravated by a proclivity to rush, with reckless and half-baked plans and programs, which result in frustration and disappointment. Sound study, well-directed energies calm and routine endeavors, with patience and determination, might eventually crown sagacious and shrewd grasp of propitious events.

A child born on this day while having some fair prospects, with sturdy and constructive ability, has also an indecisive mentality with reckless, over-zealous energy, tending toward defeat and devastation.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Tall-Tale Tongue Aids Doctor

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

SO far as the physician is concerned, the tongue is a tell-tale even when silent, ranking with pulse and temperature as a gauge of his patient's condition.

The appearance of the tongue gives the doctor many clues to work with and many sometimes even indicate the specific disorder he has to deal with.

Illness may affect the tongue in three ways, causing it to become dry, coated or smooth.

When the amount of fluids in the body is decreased, the tongue becomes dry. Thus a dry tongue indicates that the body is dehydrated or lacking in water.

Little Structures

When the tongue is coated, it is usually due to an overgrowth of little structures called papillae. The cause of the enlargement is not known.

A smooth tongue is due to wasting of the papillae. It is probably the commonest abnormality of the tongue. It occurs in certain types of anemia or lessening of the coloring in the blood. It is also present in toxic goitre, in heart failure, and after pneumonia.

In one type of anemia in which smoothness of the tongue occurs, there is a lessening of the coloring in the blood together with a lack of acid in the stomach. This condition is known as hypochromic anemia. The condition of the tongue rapidly improves when the patient is given some iron-containing preparations in the proper amount.

In pernicious anemia also, the tongue is smooth and the condition is overcome by giving liver extract.

Deeply Furrowed

The tongue may be deeply furrowed. This occurs in normal persons. Oftentimes after the tongue has been smooth and the condition is overcome by growth of the wasted lining membrane, the tongue develops a bumpy appearance. This also is not abnormal, and causes no difficulties.

Many persons become worried because the tongue is coated. As I have stated above, in most instances this is no cause for concern.

However, in some cases, it may be an indication of some infection of the nose or throat, some digestive disorder or perhaps a gallbladder disturbance. The physician will determine whether or not it is any cause for alarm.

Letters to Dr. Bundesen should be addressed in care of 235 E. 45th st., New York City.

EPIDEMICS' TOLL FELT FOR YEARS

Stressing the need for an all-out support of the 1947 March of Dimes, January 15-30, William Sponseller, chairman of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis fund raising drive here, revealed today that cost of caring for polio victims continues for years after an epidemic has struck.

Citing New York state as an example, Sponseller explained that in 1946 more than $200,000 in March of Dimes funds was sent by the National Foundation to its local chapters there to replenish treasuries depleted by outbreaks which occurred two years ago.

"It will be years," he added, before the state of Minnesota will have finished paying the toll for continuing care of the 2,500 victims stricken there last summer alone, when over $900,000 was added to local chapter resources by national headquarters, Illinois, Florida, Colorado, Wisconsin, Missouri and other states hit by the 1946 record epidemic, will be faced with similar financial problems.

"By giving greater support than ever before to this year's March of Dimes, we are assured of the best of care for polio patients from the crucial stage of the disease through the prolonged after-care period."

Two Are Rescued After Antarctic Plane Crashes

LITTLE AMERICA, Jan. 20.—(Delayed)—Capt. George Dufek, commander of the Eastern Antarctic task group, and his pilot, were rescued uninjured today from icy polar waters after their helicopter crashed into the sea. The plane was lost.

Admiral Richard Cruzen gave no details of the rescue other than to say the pilot, whom he did not further identify, and Dufek, a passenger, escaped injury. Both men wore life preservers.

Farmers Rely On Family Help For 'Hired Hand' Help

Columbiana county farmers lost more than 500 hired workers during the past five years, or three-fourths the total prewar hired force, the new Census of Agriculture shows.

Of the 748 "hired workers" on farms in the county in 1940, only 200 were left five years later; and many of those who went away to the war plants and the armed services have not returned.

In family workers' however, the county is still strong. Always the bulk of the farm labor force, the number of family workers increased moderately during the war years, from 4,028 in 1940 to 4,541 in 1945.

The census count of farm workers, family or hired, includes part-time as well as full-time labor, that is any person 14 years old and over working on the farm two days a week.

As the hired labor supply has dwindled, wages have increased. Farmers in the county paid $573,000 cash wages for full-time and part-time hired labor in the recent census year, compared to $56,000 before the war.

To make up for the shortage of labor, farmers in the county have acquired more tractors, used electricity more extensively—and worked a lot harder themselves.

Boyle's COLUMN

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK, Jan. 21—Man is a beautiful thing, a butterfly born in a foggy day.

He is also a fading fugitive—and the natural prey of woman.

Therefore it comes as a surprise when the "office girls" of the Goodrich Co. in Akron write in to ask "how we girls should go about picking a husband."

This is like a fox asking one rabbit how to catch another rabbit.

It is also a bit insincere, because—let's face it, girls—the problem isn't so much how to pick a husband as how to grab one.

Nature operates under the old economic law of supply and demand, and before you reach for and bend one off these innocent creatures to your steel whims, sister, think of whether you can make him happy in the cage you build to tame him.

Man is a fair and unspoiled creature of the crowd. He enters adult life as the great adventurer, the dreamer and the deer. This is why most great deeds, inventions, and poems are wrought by men.

You, sisters, are the schemers. You "minions of the moon"—as Shakespeare called you—are really nothing more than crutches the Lord gave men to sustain them in the disappointment of their dreams.

Well, darling, catch him in his tummy or in his loneliness. The bigger he talks the smaller he is—somewhere. Be there when he isn't sure of himself, and no man always is. Don't pepper him—salve him.

If you are a beautiful girl, go for a homey man. He'll be grateful, and keep your beauty green when it is as old a memory as five-cent Snyder states.

One covered bridge near Millport has been razed and rebuilt, while another has been razed and a new span erected over Beaver Creek near Gavers in Wayne township.

Snyder declares that all of the eight covered bridges are not in general use. One bridge in Unity township is on private property as the road has been abandoned. Another is located on an abandoned road in Salem township.

beer. If you are the kind of girl with hair like hemp and teeth like a fractured buzz saw, try for a handsome man. You'll make him look good in the later days when he needs the benefit of contrast.

And anyway plain girls, by God's bounty, develop personality and character that outwears gold—or beauty.

Man is a victim of appetite. You have to bait the trap for a husband just as you would if you were going to catch a bear.

Feed him when he is hungry, stroke him when he is angry. Give more than you get—at least until he leans upon you. Make yourself his habit.

When the befuddled thing can't quite do without you, lead him slowly and gently to the altar. Now you have your husband. But can you make him wear the bride?

Sir Walter Raleigh introduced potatoes and tobacco to the Old World in 1586, on his return to Ireland from Virginia.

Salem Brushing Up For Play Against Rayen's Man-To-Man

LOCALS WILL MEET FIRST DEFENSE OF THAT TYPE IN SEVEN GAMES AT SOUTH GYM

Salem High's undefeated Quaker basketball team will have a golden opportunity to try its offense against a man-to-man defense Friday night at Youngstown's South field house when it seeks its ninth straight victory over Ralph Robinson's Youngstown Rayen outfit.

The Salem-Rayen game, billed as the feature attraction of a double-header at the field house, will get under way at 8:30, with Lowellville and Youngstown Ursuline scheduled in the first game.

Faculty Manager Fred E. Cope announced today that no reserved seats will be on sale for the Friday game and no general admission will be sent here in advance.

The ticket booths will open at 6:30 p. m. in Youngstown and the 3,500 capacity of South's field house is expected to be ample to handle the crowd.

Rayen's defense—the man to man type—is the first of its kind that Salem has met since the opening game at Lisbon, when the Quakers won handily 42-22.

Since then, the Quakers have consistently run up against zone defenses of varying types and consequently haven't had a chance to try their wares against the more conventional man-to-man.

It is expected that a difference in scoring power will be seen against the man-to-man, as the bulk of the responsibility is switched with the variety in offense usable.

Coach Bob Miller took his Salem charges to Leetonia's larger court Monday afternoon to work out for the Rayen game. He expects to arrange visits to out-of-town courts through the week in preparation for the locals' contest on the South court.

The Leetonia court measures about 50 x 84 feet as compared to Salem's 66 x 38 feet, allowing ample room for the offensive operations.

Against a man-to-man, Miller plans to use the same offenses he did against Lisbon, with Tony Martinelli and Johnny Laughlin controlling the ball in the back court and Francis Lannoy dropping back considerably to help in those chores.

Virgil Kelly and Bob Payer work the corners and most of the underbasket assignments.

Bob Snyder Now Coach of Rams

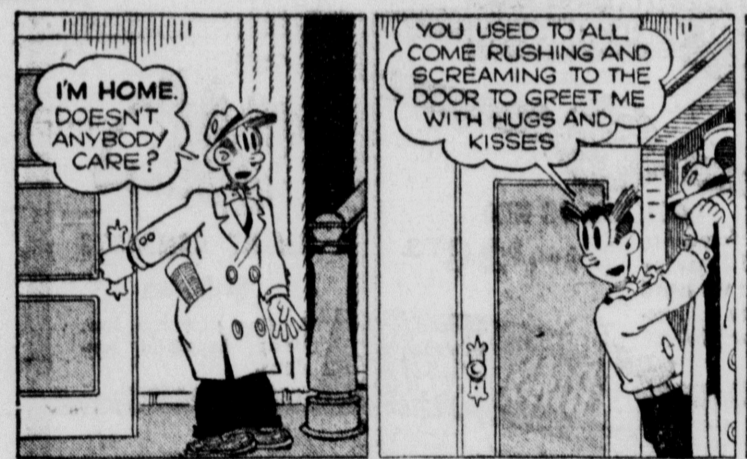

(By Associated Press) LOS ANGELES, Jan. 21.—Husky Bob Snyder, master of gridiron T-chieftaincy, yesterday was named head coach of the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football league.

Backfield mentor of the Rams for the past two years, Snyder succeeded Adam Walsh.

Ram President Dan Reeves' announcement at a press luncheon drew warm applause. The 33-year-old Snyder smiled and said: "I hope I get the same reception next December."

Born in Fremont, Ohio, he called Toledo home until moving here when the Cleveland Ram franchise was shifted to Los Angeles.

FELLER-VEECK IN CONTRACT HUDDLE

Tribe Fireballer Nearly Sure To Eclipse Top Ruth Earnings

(By Associated Press) CLEVELAND, Jan. 21.—Babe Ruth's $20,000 salary record for major league baseball players rocked precariously today as the Cleveland Indians' Bob Feller and Tribe President Bill Veeck huddled on the fireballer's signing of a 1947 contract.

Feller, who has been coaxed into the Tribe fold for years with contracts which included flat bonus clauses, was expected to continue as the highest salaried star of the current diamond crop, with a distinct possibility remaining that he will receive an all-time record salary for his 1947 chores.

The rapid pitcher received a reported $75,000 in wages last year on a flat contract with a bonus-attendance clause, only $5,000 less than the Bambino's peak salary.

The erstwhile schoolboy sensation set a modern major league mark last year by fanning 348 batters in his first full postwar season. Feller and Veeck have held two previous salary confabs this year.

Al Lopez, catcher obtained from the Pittsburgh Pirates, and Ray Flanagan, former Baltimore pitcher, signed Indians contracts yesterday.

Michigan's Star Tackle Signs With Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Jan. 21.—Jack Carpenter, 235-pound University of Michigan tackle, today signed with the Cleveland Browns of the All-America Football conference. General Manager-Coach Paul Brown reported.

The Browns' No. 4 choice in the recent A. A. C. draft, the huge lineman was one of the outstanding tackles in the Big Nine conference, and also was sought by the Chicago Cardinals of the rival National league. Brown said.

Two other collegiate stars, Right Halfbacks Jim Dewar of Indiana and John Duda of Virginia, affixed their signatures to Brown contracts yesterday.

DEPARTMENT OF EXPLANATION

Salem High school's Reserves, year in and year out, perform with about average records, winning only a few more than they lose and sometimes not even hitting the 500 mark. Folks sometimes wonder why our outfits seem below the par established by other schools. There's a reason.

Just for the records consider that Salem's younger cagers receive little or no actual coaching throughout the season. In other words no one man spends his time, or the majority of his time, tutoring the youngsters.

That may explain to some, who sometimes grumble, just what sort of obstacle the lads are working under.

The set-up here, as it must be, has Coach Bob Miller working practically full time with the varsity and reserves and Coach Frank Tarr with the Freshmen, who really need the training in court fundamentals more than the rest.

Because Miller must spend the majority of his efforts on the varsity and at the same time handle the reserves, they naturally fall into the category of a practice club for the varsity.

In this task they spend most of their time being the defensive team, or in using the offenses gleaned from scouting against the varsity. Little actual time for their own training and practice can be given.

Remember that the next time the youngsters drop a game or when one makes an obvious error on the court. Their current learning is coming mainly from absorption of what they hear the varsity being taught.

MORE ON THE TICKET

ANGE

Just a week from this Friday Salem will travel to East Liverpool for a return match with the Pot- ters. A lot of folks are anxious to see the contest there, but like Pot- ters fans when Salem played host, they aren't going to have much of an opportunity.

East Liverpool's faculty manager, Nate Norah, finds himself in a position very similar to that of Fred- dy Cope when Salem was enter- taining here.

The new Potter gym has a big floor, but doesn't have a seating capacity much larger than the local gym. In fact, the East Liverpool home games have been sold out consistently for the past two seasons and are for the rest of this year.

People in East Liverpool can't get seats for themselves for the Sa- lem game, so don't expect any ad- vance shipment up this way from Pottertownt. They just don't have them.

The only suggestion for local fans who must see the game is to get there early and secure general ad- mission seats, if possible. The gate sale will open at about 6:30. Re- served seats will not be on sale at the gate.

ODDS AND ENDS

Ravenna, like Salem, is having trouble filling that 1947 football card.... That's the first time the third game of the season open and can't locate a rival.... Fred Cope is still trying on the opener for 1947 but hasn't landed anyone yet.... He hopes to have the com- plete schedule ready for announce- ment soon....

All 20 players on Salem's cage squad—varsity and reserve—broke into the lineup last week against Ravenna.... That's the first time this year.... A full house is ex- pected at Youngstown South's field house Friday.... A large share of the fans will be from Sa- lem, too.... By actual count only 450 High school students attended the East Liverpool game on Association tickets and about 139 from Junior High.... That's out of a total of nearly 1,000.... The rest of that mob was adult size....

MUSINGS FROM WARREN

GAME: Few people at the game realized just how close Salem was to real danger.... Lanney and Kelly had four personal each, Payer three and Martinelli and Ciccozzi each two.... Warren, of course, was in a bad way too, with Egan, Weaver, Imburgia, Henkel and Corbin all four-timers.... A few more minutes and everyone would have been out.... The 14 switches in the lead and 10 ties is some sort of a record.... That's nearly one a minute.... Salem missed seven fouls in the almost-fatal last quar- ter.... Had they clicked it would have been a breeze.... Warren employed the officials, as that game actually was a Warren home game, but was switched here be- cause of a conflict in the school schedule there.... Forty-seven personals were called, 20 against Salem.

Mullins, AMVETS Win First Games of New Class A Round

The AMVETS, Class A's first round champions, Monday night opened the second round in appropriate style with a convincing 45-45 basketball victory over the always-dangerous Deming five at the Memorial building.

Mullins also got off to a fast start in the new round as they easily defeated the V. F. W. basketballers 39-20 in the other half of the league twin bill.

Starting fast, the AMVETS rolled up a 10-7 margin at the quarter and increased their margin to 22-9 at the half. Demings could not seem to find their range during the first two periods, getting only two points in the second frame.

The first round champs continued their fast pace in the third quarter as they outscored the Pumpmak- ers 17-8.

Then came trouble.

In one of the most astounding exhibitions of plain and fancy shooting seen at the Memorial building in many a day, the Deming club poured 28 points through the hoop in the final quarter. They seemingly could not miss, but the rally fell short of the AMVETS by nine points.

Tut Guapone had his best night of the season for the winners with a 15-point barrage, to lead his team, with Sam Priddy and Kirby Laughlin following with 13 and 10 respec- tively.

Top scorer for Demings was Torch Nedelka, who stretched his margin over the rest of the loop's hoopers with 13 points. Buck Rice notched 11 markers.

The Mullins Manufacturers proved to be too tough for the hapless V. F. W. club and had a comfortable margin of the points all the way through their contest.

The winners held a 23-8 lead at the half and merely coasted the rest of the way. In doing so they even outscored the Vets by a point in the final half.

MYSTERY DEEPENS OVER GREENBERG

Wonderment Over Switch From American Loop Is Current Chatter

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—The mys- tery surrounding Hank Greenberg's sudden departure from the Detroit Tigers and the American league deepened today when it became known the league's seven other clubs had failed to claim the home run king.

Only one waiver request could possibly have been made up to last Saturday, when Greenberg was sold to the Pittsburgh Pirates. This means that President Larry MacPhail of the New York Yankees and others in the American league did not even bother to put in a claim for him.

Still Questionable

MacPhail, explaining why he let Greenberg be waived out of the league, said he had tried three times since last fall to land Greenberg, but that each time he was turned down. Yet when he might have had opportunity to get Greenberg for the $10,000 waiver price, he failed to take advantage of it.

MacPhail declared the Tigers would not have allowed Greenberg to go to the Yankees, or any other potentially strong American league club. That might have been true, but neither MacPhail nor anybody else gave the Tigers a change to prove or disprove it.

If the magnates had stuck to the letter of the law, President Walter E. Briggs of the Tigers would have had no recourse but either to re- call the waiver or let Greenberg go.

Loose talk of a "gentleman's agreement" between Briggs and other club owners is unfounded since rule 10, article 5 states that "no club should solicit another club directly or indirectly, nor to claim a player on waivers. Penalties will be imposed by the commissioner for so doing, or for acceding to such solicitation."

Veck entered the Marine corps later and sold the Milwaukee club during his stay in service. While serving with the Marines on Bougainville, Veck suffered an injury to his left foot and ankle. The injury failed to heal properly and shortly before Christmas, the foot had to be amputated.

After his two years in the Mar- ines, Veck returned to civilian life and began attempts to acquire a major league baseball club.

He acquired the Cleveland In- dians after the trading deadline in 1946, and although the club finished in sixth place, the Forest city fans accepted the new ownership with open arms and broke all attendance records with a mark of more than a million.

Veck knows his baseball from A to Z and has declared that he will leave no stone unturned in his efforts to bring a winner to Cleveland.

He has already begun the build- ing of an extensive chain of minor league clubs to supply the Tribe with new material and has gone all-out in trading offers to build Cleveland power.

Besides offering a better team to Cleveland fans, Veck has and is making improvements in the fan end of things with additions to stadium accommodations and enter- tainment.

He is seriously considering hiring the Musical Majorettes, tutored by Red Bird of the Cleveland Browns, for the coming baseball season and will make changes in scorecards, Cribbs and regular baseball show for the fans' benefit.

Switching momentarily from High school athletes to the base- ball field, the Salem Boosters club will hear President Bill Veeck of the Cleveland Indians at its meeting at the Saxon club at 8:15 p. m. Thursday.

Veck, well-known figure in the baseball world, is coming to Sa- lem with the expressed purpose of "meeting the fans" in one of the few speak- ing engagements he has accepted outside of Cleveland since taking over the Tribe in June, 1946.

Veck, son of the former owner of the Chicago Cubs of the Na- tional league, learned his baseball early distributing tickets for Ladies day at Wrigley field when he was but a youngster.

He then moved into the box of- fice, still working for his father, and spent all his spare time during school days at the ball park. Later he was transferred to the upper office where he gained complete ex- perience in all departments of run- ning a baseball team.

Veck then decided he would like to own a club of his own and with Charlie Grim, who now man- ages the Cubs, went to Milwaukee as owner of the Milwaukee Brew- ers of the American association.

The Milwaukee club at that time was 10 games deep in last place in the middle of the season. Although the position in the loop didn't im- prove that year, Veck greatly in- creased attendance and interest in the club.

The following season the Veck- owned outfit lost the league pen- nant on the last day of the season and then won the pennant three successive years under his direction.

Veck entered the Marine corps later and sold the Milwaukee club during his stay in service. While serving with the Marines on Bougainville, Veck suffered an injury to his left foot and ankle. The injury failed to heal properly and shortly before Christmas, the foot had to be amputated.

Veck expressed a desire to come to Salem last fall and is fulfilling that desire in his trip here this week.

A record turnout at Boosters meeting is expected to welcome the Tribe executive.

AIRLINE WOULD INCLUDE SALEM

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Spokesmen for the 20 airlines resumed their efforts today for expanded commercial plane service in the populous Great Lakes area in a series of final hearings before the Civil Aeronautics board.

The program would affect routes in Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

Daniel N. Gribbon, attorney for American airlines, yesterday urged the board to approve the company's application to operate between Cleveland, Indianapolis and St. Louis. He said the service would "close one glaring gap in the nation's air transportation system."

Hamilton C. Hale, counsel for All-

American Aviation, said his company would operate two routes—one between Cleveland and Pittsburgh and the other between Cincinnati and Pittsburgh.

Atty. E. V. Moore said that approval of Delta Air corporation's proposed extension from Cincinnati to Cleveland by way of Columbus, Akron and Canton, O., and from Cincinnati to Detroit by way of Columbus and Toledo, would benefit both Ohio and Michigan.

The examiner's report included these proposed new routes:

Trans-Ohio Airlines—Detroit and Huntington via Monroe, Toledo, Findlay, Lima, Piqua, Dayton, Middletown, Cincinnati and Portsmouth; Toledo and Huntington via Tiffin, Marion, Delaware, Columbus, Lancaster and Chillicothe; Toledo and Huntington via Sandusky, Lorain-Elyria, Cleveland, Alliance-Salem, East Liverpool, Pittsburgh, Wheeling, Parkersburg and Gallipolis.

STOFFER

ing that Dexter remained beside the cruiser, firing occasionally at the tree.

Vincent and Mosser circled the tree from the roadside and attempted to get behind Stoffer's position, they said.

Mosser soon afterwards called to Dexter to cease firing, as he had located Stoffer lying on the ground behind the tree, wounded in the right thigh.

Mosser said he saw a badge under Stoffer's coat lapel when he lifted him from the ground, but didn't actually identify the man until he was in Robinson Memorial hospital in Ravenna about a half hour later.

Recall Stoffer's Threats
Both Dexter and Mosser testified that after Stoffer was taken he was boisterous and profane and repeated the threat "I came up here to get that—blonde and I'll get her yet."

Deputy Steve Ecker, who arrived on the scene after Stoffer was taken and followed the other cruiser to the hospital, testified that he heard Stoffer issue the same threat, more viciously, in the hospital emergency room.

Thomas, the restaurant proprietor, testified that Stoffer was "abusive and profane" after he entered my place and said that he had told Stoffer he would have to leave if he didn't stop.

Thomas said Stoffer made an attempt to enter the kitchen of the place but sat back down when he was warned not to enter. A few minutes later, Thomas said, the ex-chief entered the kitchen after he had pressed a gun in Thomas' ribs as he tried to stop him.

The waitress, Mrs. Pilmer, ran out the rear of the place and across the street to Little Joe's restaurant, Thomas said. He testified that he heard a burst of shots from what he supposed was the machine gun.

Gun on Stand
Police Chief Nerr Gant of Salem, who succeeded Stoffer as chief, testified Monday afternoon that the machine gun was not in the city's case at city hall here early Memorial day morning. He said he retrieved the gun from Portage county deputies on Memorial day.

Serjt. James Dodge, a ballistics expert from the Cleveland police department, yesterday testified that he had made one bullet cartridges found at the scene of the shooting were fired from the Salem machine gun.

Italian-born Carl Aldo Marzani, above, former OSS and State Department employee, was indicted by a federal grand jury in Washington on charges of stating falsely that he was not a Communist when he sought government employment and of plotting to undermine the morale of the armed forces. ## Offered $100,000 For 'Slots' Permit

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Jan. 21.—State Liquor Director Stanley B. Cofall said today he had been offered $100,000 a month to permit an unidentified man to operate 10,000 slot machines in Ohio taverns.

Cofall said the man appeared at his office last week and did not give a name prior to the offer. He said he could not identify the man.

"It all happened so quick," Cofall related, "I didn't get a chance to find out who the man was."

Cofall said the man spoke vaguely of having 10,000 slot machines ready to place in operation and that it was worth $10 per month per machine "to allow them to operate."

He described the man as five feet, 10 inches tall, "chunky," and dark-haired. Cofall said he wore a moustache.

Cofall disclosed the attempted bribe in a speech to Ohio liquor dealers last night. He told the dealers that he had replied to the man that he was "interested in slots, but only in their removal from any taverns they now might be in."

He said the man replied quickly, "That's all I want to know," turned and left the building.

Andrew Volstead Dies At Age of 87

GRANITE FALLS, Minn., Jan. 21.—Andrew J. Volstead, the man who, more than any other, personified prohibition in the United States, died Monday after having been in virtual retirement since the federal statute bearing his name was repealed in 1933.

The western Minnesota country lawyer served in congress for 20 years and was chairman of the house judiciary committee when an enforcement act to implement the 18th amendment became necessary in 1918.

How much of that act Volstead himself wrote remained his secret when he died at the age of 87. But in the popular mind that law became known as the Volstead act when it was passed by congress over President Wilson's veto.

After his defeat in 1922, Volstead continued his campaign against liquor by becoming legal adviser to the St. Paul, Minn., district prohibition enforcement headquarters, a post he held until repeal.

ARMY, NAVY CLOSES ITS FILES ON SECRETS OF REICH'S WAR DEFENSES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Five months after publishing details of how the Germans went underground to avoid Allied aerial bombing, the Army and Navy have stamped the information as a military secret.

Involved, it was learned today, were three reports on construction and design of 116 German underground installations such as Hitler's Berchtesgaden retreat.

The joint Army-Navy intelligence objectives agency okayed the reports for public consumption before the Commerce department's Office of Technical Services (OTS) offered photographic and microfilm copies for sale to anyone interested last Aug. 22.

Now the OTS has been directed to withdraw the copies, including those which had been available to patrons of the Library of Congress.

A War department official said today no explanation was likely to be made public.

OTS officials said they were given no reason for the reclamation of secrecy, but that it would be logical to assume the intelligence agency believes something in the reports might involve national security.

They said the Army-Navy arm has done the same thing with a number of other reports—perhaps 300 or so—first approving their release, later ordering them withdrawn. Some have been restored to public availability after deletions.

A check of OTS files failed to show purchase of any of the German underground installation reports, but the files were "more than a month" behind on orders.

OTS officials said practically all foreign nations have bought some of its reports, which cover a wide range of U. S. and German information, including industrial, aviation and ordnance information.

Russia has been one of the best customers among foreign buyers.
